

Mohave County Miner,

Every Saturday Evening.

Anson H. Smith, Editor; M. A. Sawyer, Associate

Entered at the Postoffice at Kingman as Second Class Mail Matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES—One Year $4; Six Months, 2$.

The treasury deficit for the year ending June 30 will reach fully 100,000,000$.

Yellow fever has broken out among the troops in Cuba and a number of deaths have occurred.

Senator Wellington fears that the attack on Schley by the navy department will lose the state of Maryland to the republicans.

To show the great and growing interest in copper a paper has been started in New York City devoted exclusively to that product. It is styled The Copper Situation and is a neat and newsy affair.

It is now believed that the smelter strike will be settled amicably this week by the men being allowed to work ten hours at an hourly rate of wages. This method will not conflict with the eight hour law.

Kentucky democrats have been in session three days and have only perfected a temporary organization. The platform will favor the abolishment of trusts, free coinage of silver and a modification of the tariff.

Strikes are now on all over the country, despite the insistence of trust papers that we are in the midst of a great wave of prosperity. Prosperity may create a depression among laborers but it will be hard to convince an intelligent people that such is the case.

In the New York state building at the Paris Exposition will be placed a map of New York City twenty-seven feet long and seventeen wide and constructed on a scale of 600 feet to one inch. It will be made under the direction of the chief topographical engineer of the city, at a cost of 10,000$.

The Phenix Gazette says that Mrs. Samuel Franklin who won the prize in the San Francisco Examiner scheme noted as her weight in silver has just received a check from the Examiner for 1106.07$. This amount if husbanded nicely will pay the subscription price of the Examiner weekly for at least several years. Several policy players will today try combinations on the figures of the check.

One year ago today the first land battle between American and Spanish troops took place, which resulted in the route of the Spaniards. In this battle the Rough Riders of the west distinguished themselves for daring bravery. Mohave county has to mourn one of that brave band (Reynolds) whose body rests unmarked in a Cuban grave.

The Studebaker Company, well known all over the country for their vehicles, have received orders for upward of a million dollars for their automobiles within the past three weeks. Those who suppose the automobiles a sort of plaything should be disabused of that idea by such facts. There are now over twenty great manufacturers of automobiles in the country, many of them as strong as the Studebakers.

Pat Driscoll, the mythical Kingman mining man, is receiving any number of letters. So far about a dozen have reached the Kingman office. These letters are from all parts of the country, showing how widespread was the story of his suddenly acquired wealth circulated. Although Pat Driscoll was never a resident of Kingman there are many now residents here who have been blessed with his great luck in the mines and there are many others that only death can keep from great fortunes. The mines of Mohave county have a world of wealth and only need the developing hand of capital to bring it forth.

Governor Murphy has issued a circulars to mining investors and capitalists warning them against the fake mining schemes being promoted in the eastern cities on the reputation of good mines existing in the territory. He calls special attention to the Val Verde and Spenazuma companies which have achieved an unenviable reputation of late and counsels those who contemplate investments to a careful investigation before engaging in speculation.—Herald.

Los Angeles has at last got a gold excitement in its midst. At 4th and Olive streets a miner picked up flakes of gold and the ground assays seventeen dollars to the ton. Why Los Angeles men want to go out into the country in quest of gold bearing rock when the silt of its streets run well up in the yellow metal is beyond the ken of human knowledge. At present there is no prospect of an exodus from the deserts to the new Los Angeles gold fields.

Dead Letter List.

O. D. M. GADDIS, P. M.

Kean St. Charles was in Kingman over Sunday. He says that development is showing the Midnight mine at Chloride to be a wonderful property. The main shaft will stand at a depth of 200 feet by July first and the work of crosscutting the vein (which is believed to be over 100 feet in width) will be begun.

California parties have been sampling the mining claims of Koster, Smith and West, near Boundary Cone, the past ten days. The veins are big and carry splendid values.

Grand Stand

Privileges....

Bids will be received by the 4th of July committee until Monday, June 26th, 1899, at 12 o'clock m., for the grand stand privileges during the 4th of July festivities. Said privileges carry with them the right to sell all kinds of soft drinks, cigars, confectionery, etc., on the grounds. J. R. HALSEY, Chairman of Com.

White Hills.

From our regular correspondent

A new saloon has been opened up in the Byrd building.

J. W. Marshall visited in Chloride several days this week.

John Winkler is returned from a visit to the Colorado river.

John Hues passed through here on his way to El Dorado Canyon. His trip to California hot springs having failed to benefit him he will try sulphur mud baths at the canyon.

George T. Warren, bookkeeper for the White Hills Company, made a brief trip to California last week, stopping at Kingman several days on the return trip home.

One day last week five of the celebrators of last pay day started for the river with four bottles of whisky and two half gallon cans of water. The same evening one of the number came back with an empty can, but said nothing of the whereabouts of the others.

The next day another one of the party, O'Brien by name, came in nearly choked with thirst and reported his three companions almost crazed and nearly dead in the valley. Mr. Scanlon went out in search of the suffering men but failed to find them. At daylight the next day Al Joseelyn, corral boss for the White Hills Company, with O'Brien for a guide, found the three unfortunate men about five miles from town. He brought them in and they quickly recovered from the effects of their trip into the desert. Tuesday they again sallied forth and succeeded in reaching El Dorado Canyon last night. They are headed for Searchlight. This incident calls to mind the fate of Shea, Rogers and Maguire, who started for Bonelli's Ferry in the latter part of August, 1897. One died in the big wash near Poison Spring. The mail rider found Rogers still alive and took him to the river, where he died. Maguire succeeded in reaching the river none the worse for the trip. The men had been drinking heavily in the Hills before undertaking the journey. It is a well known fact that liquor causes a feverish condition of the blood and no one contemplating a desert trip should ever indulge in spirits on the journey or prior thereto.

Another old timer has passed over the range. Finley McLennan died at this place on June 18th. His death was attributed to various causes, but it is thought to have been caused by paralysis. Mr. McLennan came to White Hills about two months ago and had been employed by the White Hills Company. He was taken ill four days prior to his death and immediately passed into a comatose condition, never regaining consciousness. He was given the best of care during his illness by Frank O'Dea. Several years ago Mr. McLennan had an attack of a similar nature but after a long illness recovered. William O'Dea, who had been a partner of the deceased for fourteen years, and William Bohne, arrived from Todd Basin in time for the funeral. Mr. McLennan was a warm hearted, generous man and his death will cause sadness among his miner friends throughout the camps where he was known.

Just received a fine line of druggists sundries. PENDEGAST & ASPINWALL, Druggists.

Tennyson or Longfellow could take a worthless sheet of paper, write a poem on it and make it worth 65,000$.—That's genius. Rockefeller can write a few lines on a sheet of paper and make it worth 5,000,000$.—That's capital. The United States can take an ounce of gold and stamp upon it an "eagle bird" and make it worth 20$.—That's money. A mechanic can take material worth 5$ and make it into watch springs worth 1,000$.—That's skill. A merchant can take an article worth 75 cents and sell it for 1$.—That's business. A woman can purchase a 75-cent hat, but prefers one that costs 27$.—That's foolishness. A ditch digger works ten hours a day and handles several tons of earth for 1.25$.—That's labor. The printer of this can write a check for 90,000,000$, but it wouldn't be worth a dime.—That's rough. Everyone who is posted and expects the best at reasonable prices, deals at
